

Legal regulations

JURIDICAL INFORMATION

The website www.th-group.eu and all underlying websites belong to the Turboø Hoet Group and its underlying companies. The juridical information below applies to all visitors of the mentioned websites.

Turboø Hoet reserves the right to change the content of the websites anytime without notification and canø be held responsible for the consequences of these changes. The access to the websites and their information is subject to the conditions below and to the applicable regulations. By accessing these websites you accept these conditions without restrictions or reservation.

The information provided on the Turboø Hoet websites is for information purposes only. None of the information is legally valid.

COPYRIGHT TURBOøS HOET

None of the data on the Turboø Hoet websites may be stored, passed on by any means (including scanning, photocopying and electronic data storage) without a preliminary written permission from Turboø Hoet Group or one of its underlying companies.

GENERAL JURIDICAL INFORMATION

The data on these websites can contain typographic mistakes. The search engines on the sites are developed to help you correctly identify the spare part you are looking for. Turboø Hoet will not accept any liability for inaccuracies and/or incompleteness of the data published on the website.

The data base is available as an indication and the product proposals are not meant to replace the contact with our employees to identify the correct product for your engine. At present, not all products in our range are included in the data base. In case you canø find the appropriate product for your vehicle, please contact our specialized staff for help.

By no means can Turboø Hoet be held responsible towards a physical or legal person for any direct or indirect damage, caused by the use of this website or any other website linked to the Turboø Hoet Group, more specifically -and not limited to- the loss of profit, work interruptions or incorrect orders, even if Turboø Hoet has been specifically informed about this possibility. Turboø Hoet will not accept liability for any damage caused by incorrect deliveries as a result of an identification based on the license plate number or the vehicle data.